Directions

“So, here is some “other stuff”; in order for us to “get it” we must first “get it” about ourselves. Yes, we men need to become a whole person before we start looking for another whole person to share our lives with. By the way guys, pay attention, we are not only capable of change; we can make the changes necessary to live fully all of the possibilities within us. That’s right men, I believe in us. I know that if we men will just overcome our fears of change, realize what we are continuing to do to women, to this world we all live in, we will find the courage to find ourselves, to find our direction.”
