INTRODUCTION

“The main reason I wrote this book is because of a question my then nine year old son asked me. Tyler came home from school and excitedly asked me the following question which lead to the following conversation; “Dad, did you ever tell a girl you loved her?” Puzzled I said yes Tyler, I told your Mother I loved her. He then said, “isn't it the scariest thing you ever did?” Yes son, telling someone how we feel about them is very scary for us men. Does she feel the same way about you? No Dad, she does not feel the same way. I am sorry son and then my nine year old said these words; “It is okay Dad, the important thing is that I was brave enough to tell her.” You are right Tyler, always remember that it will never be about what we receive in this life son, it will always be about what we are able to give.”
